REPEAL OF TEFRA
PARTNERSHIP AUDIT RULES
And Selected Transactional Implications

Beginning January 1, 2018, the way entities taxed as partnerships are audited will be significantly modified. The TEFRA audit rules, which have been in place since 1982, are being replaced by a new centralized partnership audit regime codified by Section 1101 of the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2015 (BBA). Kean Miller partner Jason R. Brown and special counsel David P. Hamm, Jr. will provide an update of the current status of the BBA regulations, outline key changes brought about by the TEFRA repeal, and highlight several changes to partnership and operating agreements necessitated by the TEFRA repeal.
