

Litigation Associate (Offshore Energy & Marine Practice Group) – New Orleans

With more than 160 attorneys from offices in Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Houston, The Woodlands, Shreveport, Lafayette, and Lake Charles, Kean Miller serves the legal needs of the people, businesses, and industries that drive the regional economy. Our people provide creative solutions, unique strategies, and unparalleled value that allow our clients to perform at the highest level.

Kean Miller is seeking a qualified associate with 1 - 4 years' of litigation experience to join our team.

Our Offshore Energy Group represents clients in a variety of disputes involving joint-operating agreement disputes, BSEE and BOEM regulatory matters, Jones Act, personal injury claims, pipeline spills, drilling rig accidents, well blowouts, and other related energy and maritime matters. We also represent clients in business transactions involving ships, vessel mortgages and financings of oil and gas exploration equipment.

Candidates should have excellent academic credentials, strong writing skills, and excellent references. A Federal Clerkship is a plus given that most of the group's cases end up in federal courts in Louisiana and Texas. Candidates must demonstrate the ability and the desire to interact directly with Kean Miller's clients and to further develop client and referral relationships. The successful candidate should have a track record of high achievement, the desire to work in a fast-paced challenging environment, the ability to work as part of a team, and possess superior written and verbal communication skills. A current state bar license is required, but attorneys licensed outside Louisiana who desire to move back to the state are invited to apply.

What Kean Miller Offers

We offer a people-driven culture, meaningful work, highly competitive salaries, generous paid time off and an extensive benefits package that includes health, life, disability, dental, vision, accident, critical care coverage, and 401(k).

Kean Miller is committed to supporting and encouraging our attorneys through our robust in-house attorney development program. We provide professional development in the areas of client relationships and business development, practice skills, business and financial skills, and personal development.
